

Freie Texte

Nonsense

Von Jananas

Kapitel 24: Get started

für einen Freund

Get started

Start anywhere...

It will get you somewhere...

Even if is not the best place to be its better than where you are right now and it will keep you moving...

Otherwise you will only be stuck in between...

Disappointment and hope will alternate which will lead you like nowhere...

And this is exactly not the place you want to be at...

Get it all out!

It's like spring-cleaning...

You will keep some things and you will have to throw some things away...

You get to look at everything and it will remember you of both, good and bad times...

It helps you to closure...

There will be some empty spaces left which need to be filled...

But not immediately...

They won't be empty for long...

Because life goes on...

And there are still so many things out there that need to be done, said, heard, smelled, felt, experienced and recognized...

They are just waiting for you to get started!