

Not as planned - Izuku Midoriya

Von Puraido

Inhaltsverzeichnis

Kapitel 1:	2
Kapitel 2:	6
Kapitel 3:	12

Kapitel 1:

Izuku was overwhelmed when he exited the plane and set foot on Thailand's ground. They had arrived in New Bangkok. He walked in line with Kairi and the other mercenaries and got his luggage, thankfully he didn't have much to carry. Toya with Hotaru and Hawks were next to him.

"Phew, it's a lot hotter here than in Japan" Hawks murmured, he got rid of his jacket.

"No shit, Sherlock" Dabi grumbled. They were talking in Japanese.

"You'll get used to it" Ian answered, he had turned around to them.

Izuku didn't say anything about it, he was just glad to be out of Japan, he was still a little bit upset about the phone call with his mom and what had happened the last night. He really didn't want to let it end on those bad terms, but he just couldn't stay there any longer.

There were a few Hummers parked next to the airport, they were definitely in the style of the mercenaries. They got into them and they drove out of New Bangkok, Izuku, Toya and Hawks drove with Kairi, Miles, and Ian.

Kairi turned on the radio and switched to the news. But since they were in Thai, neither of the Japanese passengers could understand them.

Kairi and Miles talked in English, while Ian just stared out of the window. They drove for about an hour out of Bangkok until they arrived at a massive villa. All three of them stared at the giant house. "Wow! That is darn huge" Keigo murmured. He was used to big villas but that ...

"Well, it has to be, we have a big family and lots of people live here" Kairi murmured. Keigo did not question her on that, her whole gang was in one way or another part of her family, some related by blood, some as extended family.

They exited the car, Izuku was definitely the most baffled, this was definitely not what he expected. It was so damn huge, from a small apartment to the UA dorms and now this? Just how much money did it cost to own this thing?

"You can have some of the guest rooms" Kairi started, while she brought the three newcomers upstairs. Some maids were running around, cleaning and bringing stuff from one room to another. When Kairi passed, they greeted her happily.

"That's the area just for guests, just pick a room and tell one of the maids to bring you all necessities. You omegas can even ask for extra blankets, pillows and so on, for your nests and all. We have a room full with stuff, in case more omega guests arrive." She explained. "Every room has an intercom, if you ring them, maids will be at your service. Uh, I should note, those maids are solely for cleaning and serving food, they are not here for your sexual fantasies."

Izuku blushed at that. "Well, I wouldn't have thought about that." He murmured.

"Believe me, I have enough of sex" Toya growled.

"I'm not interested in omegas or females" Keigo answered.

"Good, happy to hear that. I'm just mentioning that because we had some unpleasant guest who tried to take advantage of them. As if we don't have enough prostitutes in the city" she growled.

"Ooop, they sound like really pleasant people" Toya murmured.

Kairi grunted "Yeah, really nice and all. Anyway, you should settle in first, when you found a room that suits you and you made yourself at home, then come to my office, so we can talk about further procedures. My office is on the first floor in the left wing, the second door on the right. If you get lost you can ask one of the maids to show you the way. There are usually one or two walking around at any time."

"How many maids do you have exactly?" Izuku asked.

"Hm, I don't know, around twenty, twenty-five, some go, some come. Usually my daughter Ileana manages them, I can't be bothered to do so, I got other jobs to do. We have some butlers too, not just maids" she informed them, then she stopped. "That doesn't mean I don't care for my servants, I try to remember their names, but it is hard when you are sometimes away for a month or two and suddenly six new maids are there and three of the old ones are gone. And since we just arrived I have to check up with Ileana on who's here, who came, who left and all. Plus I pay them almost triple from what they would earn in other houses."

"Okay, okay, you are very rich" Toya grumbled.

Kairi chuckled. "I leave you to it then. See you later."

With that she turned around and walked away. The three looked after her, they sighed. "Damn, she should have given us a map for this damn thing" Keigo murmured.

"Let's get a room, I am fucking tired" Toya hissed, he was in a bad mood because of his tiredness.

"Good idea, and then we have to call the maids" Izuku grimaced, he never had any kind of servant. How should he behave around them?

They split up and everyone looked for a room they wanted to stay in. Izuku took a room with a beautiful look at the sea. The room was bigger than his old room and the room at UA combined but it was just a guest room, it was rather cold, the king size bed had already sheets on, they were neatly draped over the mattress. It had a white blanket and white pillows. The room was mostly in light colors and it had a giant panorama window.

There was a bathroom connected to his room, it had a luxurious shower and a bathtub in it. Izuku was still baffled, he could probably never ever afford those two rooms. Maybe when he became a pro hero ... He walked back to the bed and put his bags down. He walked to the giant closet, they were specially designed to have a larger space on the ground so omegas could potentially build a nest in it. He put the few clothes he had into it. He would need to go shopping ... he hated the idea, since he didn't have money and he would have to ask Kairi for it.

He flopped on his bed and stared at the white ceiling. So much had happened in the past twenty-four hours. He felt pretty helpless, he had lost control again and he had endangered Kacchan and the rest of his friends! If it weren't for Eijiro's intervention he would have killed someone, either Kacchan or Hitoshi ... he didn't want to think about it ...

Izuku bit down on his bottom lip, tears stung in his eyes but he didn't want to cry. No, he brought this upon himself. He had no right to cry. He wanted to keep the others safe, so he had to go.

He blinked a few times to make the tears go away. He wished he could have seen his mother one last time, and not just this damn phone call. Kairi had told him, she would get him a new phone and number, otherwise they would call nonstop and he didn't want that.

Sighing, Izuku got up, he walked over to the door, there was the intercom that would call a maid over. He needed stuff for showering, otherwise he wouldn't call one over.

The speaker rang and a maid answered just seconds later. "Yes, sir, how may I serve you?" she asked in English.

"Uhh, I'd like to take a shower and need towels and maybe a bathrobe for that" he answered. His English wasn't really good, but it was manageable.

"Right away, sir." The intercom clicked and it was silent again. Izuku felt really awkward after that. He didn't really know what to do now, so he just stood there and waited for the maid to arrive.

In less than five minutes she knocked on the door and Izuku opened. A cute little omegan maid was in front of him, she had bronze hair, a slight tan and gorgeous blue eyes, she had a name tag with the name 'Lacey' written on it. "Good day, sir, I brought your towels and bathrobes." She curtsied one time before entering his room. She brought the utensils over to the bathroom. "Do you need anything else, sir? Should I take the clothes, to wash them?"

Izuku stared at her for a few seconds, he blinked at her, while he translated the sentences in his head. "Uuh, yeah, sure. Uhm, I will just change ..."

"Of course, sir, do you need me to assist you?"

"No! Absolutely not!" with bright red cheeks he turned around and walked behind the privacy screen. He undressed and peeked around it. Lacey just stood there and waited. "I'll drop the clothes in front of the screen" he informed her.

"Of course, sir." She answered. She came closer and picked up the dirty clothes. "I'll wash them and bring them back as soon as possible, sir" she informed him.

"Sure, do that!" Izuku answered. He was still red in the face. He heard how Lacey closed the door, only then he could relax. He exhaled relieved and moved over to the shower. Damn, this thing was luxurious. He turned it on and it rained down on him from the entire ceiling, the water had almost instantly the perfect temperature. It was seriously a heavenly feeling.

He sighed and managed to relax a little, he closed his eyes and just stood there for a solid five minutes. His muscles got lax and he felt, just for a hot minute, that nothing mattered anymore.

After ten more minutes he started to properly wash himself. Shampoo and shower gel were already here, it smelled really good and quite relaxing. It must be a very expensive brand.

He took his time to wash over his scarred body, his hands ran aggressively over the itching bite mark. A lump started to grow in his throat. No, he didn't want to cry. He had promised himself, he wouldn't cry. This was what he wanted. He wanted to better himself. He wanted to get rid of the bond mark and he wanted to get control over his instincts, so that something like last night would never, ever happen again.

Another fifteen minutes passed where he tried to collect himself, he turned eventually the shower off and walked out of it. He grabbed one of the towels and dried himself off. After that he put the black bathrobe on. It was so damn fluffy! He noticed, that his hands would constantly rub over his forearm; that was such a nice feeling! He let out a deep rumbling sound. Even though he still felt like shit, he looked at least a bit better now.

He walked over to the bedroom again and he fell into the bed, he would just sleep a little bit. It was twelve pm by now, two pm if he were still in Japan.

Kapitel 2:

Izuku woke up three hours later, he felt still a little groggy. He yawned and scratched his neck. Right, he was still in Thailand. He stretched and got up. He changed into fresh clothes and opened his door, he hoped he would find the room later again.

He walked the way back that they came earlier and he found his way to the entrance area. He wondered what he should do now. He looked around and decided to explore a bit on his own.

The mansion was a fucking labyrinth however. He managed to find himself in a library, more bathrooms, the kitchen, suddenly he was outside on a balcony. He found a luxurious living room and the broom closet, even that looked really fancy.

"Is there something you need, sir?" he heard a voice as he closed the door to the broom closet. He flinched heavily and turned around. Another maid was behind him. Her name tag read 'Isabelle'.

"Uh, no, I am new here, I just ... uh, don't know where I am, I might be lost." He said embarrassed.

"Oh, right, you are one of the Japanese visitors, right, sir?" she asked. She had reddish brown hair and green eyes, she was also an omega.

"That's right ... Could you please help me find back? I want to talk to Kairi" he asked.

"Right away, the missus is currently in her office. I will have to look if she is available at the moment. Please, follow me, sir." Isabelle turned around and walked away.

Izuku followed her, still highly overwhelmed with everything. "This is such a big house, I think I need a map, or something" he murmured.

"I can provide a map for you, sir" Isabelle, answered.

"Really? The mansion has its own map?" Izuku blinked.

"Yes, sir."

"Uh, could you just call me Midoriya, please? I don't like the 'sir'" he felt dumb asking that.

"As you wish, Midoriya" she answered. She turned towards him and smiled. "Should I tell the others to call you Midoriya as well?"

"That would be wonderful!" Izuku sighed in relief.

"Very well." With that they seemingly arrived at Kairi's office. "Please wait here a moment." She knocked at the door and entered after Kairi called her in.

She was gone for a few minutes. When she returned she smiled at him and opened the door for him. "The missus has time for you now" she let him in and closed the door after him.

Kairi sat in a big executive chair behind a massive desk. She had multiple monitors on it and some paperwork. In front of the desk were two couches, an armchair and in the middle a coffee table. On the left side, when you entered the room were filing cabinets and on the other side were more computer stuff and a big white wall.

"Hey, sit down on the couch, I am almost done here" she murmured.

Izuku nodded and sat down, He waited for Kairi to finish, what ever she was doing. "Hey, PAM, could you send Rachat my prices? I am interest in the job he has to offer."

A computer voice echoed through the room. "Right away, ma'am."

"Thank you, PAM." With that Kairi stood up and walked over to Izuku. She was still in her 'uniform' she had a white shirt on with black pants and her black military boots, her coat was somewhere to the side. She plopped down on the couch opposite of Izuku.

"Well, shoot, what do you want?" She asked.

"Uhm, I wanted to ask how we should proceed now, with the bond scrubbing and all."

"Ah, right. PAM could you book two appointments at Stella's for bond scrubbing please? As soon as possible."

"Of course, ma'am, one moment please." PAM answered.

"Who is Pam?" Izuku asked.

"PAM – short for Predictive Analytic Machine – is an AI. Me and a friend of mine constructed her a few years ago" she explained.

"Ohh, so she's not a real person?"

"No, she is an artificial intelligence. Do you know the Avengers?"

"The movie series?" He furrowed his brows.

"Jep, PAM is something like J.A.R.V.I.S., a super computer, yada-yada" she explained.

"Oooh, okay, okay, I understand. That's cool!" he smiled.

"Yes, it is. Here is a headpiece. Just put it in your ear and you are connected with PAM outside of my house. You can ask her anything."

She threw a button towards him. Izuku caught it and put it in his ear. "Thank you." He murmured.

"The next available date is the first of September." PAM mentioned.

"Hm, that's in one and a half weeks. I hope that's okay for you?" Kairi looked at Izuku.

"Oh yeah, absolutely! If that's the earliest date, then that's fine." Izuku lifted his hands, Kairi shouldn't worry about it.

"Perfect, book them please, PAM" Kairi smiled.

"Yes, ma'am." There was a pling sound and then PAM said. "It is booked, ma'am."

"Thank you, PAM." With that Kairi turned to Izuku. "So, is there anything else you need?"

"Uh, well, I really hate to ask ..." He fidgeted with fingers.

She rolled her eyes. "Speak your mind kid. Is it about money? You already know that you can use it as you please."

"But I feel bad if I just take your money. You're already paying for the bond scrubbing and all" he was so embarrassed about this fact.

"Pft, Boy, I don't think you will lose me like two million dollar in a day, right?" She tilted her head.

"U-uh no!"

"See, now, if you would spend that amount, I would get angry, but if you spend a few hundred dollars here and there I won't even notice. Besides, if you want to stay here longer, then you can always take a job, like everyone else, you can earn your own money."

"But is that legal? I mean, I am barely a visitor here, can I really take jobs here?"

Kairi scoffed. "You're joking right? I mean, do you think the jobs I take are legal? Technically no, you can't have jobs here, but who says you have to tell anyone? Just do the job, get the cash" she shrugged.

"But ... that would be moonlighting!" Izuku looked panicked. "What if someone from police stops to check on me?"

"Bullshit, none of those lazy ass bastards would stop you. As long as you are a bit subtle about your work and don't wear a sign with 'I do illegal stuff' in front of them, they don't give two fucks about you." She explained.

"Besides, some of the members of my family work for the police. Jay and Sam are Detectives and Kilian – Miles' son – is an Officer. Collin, my nephew, is a Cadet at the moment. So, you see, many people are with the police, you don't need to worry about that."

"Still, I'd feel kinda bad ..." Izuku furrowed his brows.

"Okay, then. PAM could you hack in the registration office and register Izuku Midoriya as a citizen of Batoh? Without traces please."

"Right away, ma'am."

"Oh, and then you have to inform Jackson that I need all the documents for him, so he can take legal work."

"Of course, ma'am."

"B-but that's illegal too!" Izuku lifted his hands up.

Kairi sighed. "Look, boy, this city is FULL OFF gangsters and other criminals. It's ruled by the mafia. Literally no one gives a shit about things like that. You have to get rid of your thinking that everything you do is strictly monitored and if you do something bad everyone is after you. It's just not the case here. This is not Japan. The only thing you need to keep in mind is, never ever do shady business on the main road! That's the only thing the police cares about. The main road is for the tourists that bring money into the city, we want to get their money, so we don't do our business on the main road. Easy-peasy."

Izuku didn't look convinced, but he nodded. "I need time to adjust to that ..." he murmured.

"You will get to that." She gave him an encouraging smile. "Do me a favor and don't go into the city alone, at least not in the beginning. Stick to Ian, Jesper or really any of the others. If you don't know the rules of this city, it can cause major problems."

They heard a knock on the door. "Come in" Kairi called.

The door swung open and a girl with dark brown hair and blue eyes walked in, she had Kairi's face, so Izuku guessed it was one of her daughters. She had Toya – with Hotaru – and Keigo with her.

"Dearest mother" she started as she walked to the couch. "I brought you these two absolute cuties" she smiled, while she plopped next to her mother onto the couch. "Oh, I see, there's yet another cutie" she smiled at Izuku, before she turned her attention to her mother again.

"What did you do this time, Elsa?" Kairi raised her eyebrows.

"Why would you assume that I did something, dear mother?" she asked.

"I'm your mother, I know when something's up ..." Kairi gave her a look.

Elsa's grin got even wider. She leaned her arm onto her mother's shoulder. "You might want to help me a little bit."

"Spit it out, Elsa" Kairi sounded not amused.

"You see, I met up with one of my sugar daddies, and he got quite nasty this time."

"I fail to see why this is my problem?" Kairi raised her eyebrows. Izuku blushed at her mention.

"He got my venom and he wants to sell it, this really upsets me! I normally would take care of him on my own, but I just got a manicure" she inspected her nails. "Dearest mother, you wouldn't leave your youngest child hanging with such a problem?" Elsa made big puppy eyes and looked at her, she whined a little.

Kairi let out an exasperated sigh and she shook her head. "How many times did I tell you, to take better care? Give me the name, I'll deal with him." She growled.

"It's Ernesto De León. He is currently in the Walareiy Hotel." She answered with a smile. "I don't care what you do with him, just make him pay for hurting me like that, will you do that for me, dear mother?" She tilted her head.

"I should charge you for that, really." She growled. "But yeah, yeah, I'll deal with him. Least you can do is to call Sawyer that I'm coming with a package later." She scoffed. "Not even twelve hours back and you got this kinda job for me. Why don't you ask your brothers for once? Or your dad?"

"Ian's sleeping, Jesper's with Mina and Kilian is at work, dad ... I don't know, out with the boys? So, you're my only hope!"

"Yeah, yeah, alright, don't crawl up my ass further, I already said I'd do it. Would you excuse me now? I got some business to do here" she gestured to Hawks, Toya and Izuku.

"Right, right. You're honestly so lucky, mother. You can have your time with these cuties" she sighed.

"Oh boy ... Just go, Elsa" She pushed her daughter away from her. Giggling, the younger alpha stood up and walked passed Hawks. She gave him a suggestive smile and ran her fingers through his feathers, before she left.

Kairi pinched the bridge of her nose after Elsa had left the room, she pointed to the couches. "Take a seat ..."

"I have a question. What are you going to do with this guy?" Izuku asked.

"What do you think?" She gave him a look. Then she pulled two more devices for PAM out of her pocket. She gave them to Toya and Hawks. "Here take these, this will enable you to talk with my AI outside of the house. PAM is very capable, but you better be nice to her!" Kairi told them what PAM exactly was.

"So, when's the bond scrubbing?" Toya asked.

"September first is the earliest date. Stella is very booked." Kairi told him.

"So, uh, do we need to be careful around your daughter?" Keigo asked.

"Elsa? Hm, yeah, you need to be careful, she can get quite annoying with her advances. Ask Sam, but since you're omega she won't really have an interest in you. Like me she prefers alphas. She might flirt with you, but generally, if you say no then she respects that. Except you are named Sam ... poor guy, really."

"Ah, okay, good to know" Keigo murmured.

"Can I get some baby stuff somewhere?" Toya questioned.

"Of course, just ring for the maids, they will provide you with everything. We also have a daycare on the ground floor. She's not the only infant here. I can introduce you all the other occupants of the house if you like."

"I guess this would be good. Makes things less awkward" Toya mumbled.

Kairi got up. "Then follow me, boys." With that she left the room and the three followed her.

Kapitel 3:

They moved through the giant mansion on the way Kairi showed them some of the rooms. Their first stop was the daycare. "It's a 24/7 daycare, if you have some urgent business, just bring Hotaru here and they will take care of her."

"Really, just like that?" Toya asked.

"Of course! Many people of my family travel around for work so we need people to take care of the pups. But it is not the case that we just leave them there all the time."

They were finally at the daycare. It was literally a paradise for children. It had a small indoor play ground for the bigger ones, a relaxation area, and a sleeping area. There were some cribs for the infants too.

One of the caretakers rushed over to Kairi. "Welcome, ma'am, what can I do for you?" she was an elderly omega, she had black graying hair, a tanned skin and green eyes. She wore, like every other maid, a long black dress and a white apron.

"Natalia, these are our guests, Toya Todoroki with Hotaru, Keigo Takami and Izuku Midoriya" The woman nodded and curtsied to them. "I'm just showing them around today, but if Toya needs help with Hotaru then offer it like it was one of our pups."

"Absolutely, ma'am, you can count on me."

"Wonderful, I'll just have a look around here" Kairi walked further into the room, the boys followed her. Suddenly, they were swarmed by a bunch of pups.

"Granny!" they hollered and jumped up and down on Kairi. "You're back" the pups chirped.

Kairi let out a crooning sound and crouched down she hugged one of the pups. "Good to see you all again, how are you doing?"

"Doing great, I built a Lego castle the other day" one of the girls said. She giggled when Kairi caressed her cheek.

"Oh, that's great Nadia!" Kairi praised her. "Look, y'all, we have guests here! Why don't you introduce yourself?" She pointed with her thumb over her shoulder to the three guests.

The pups giggled and nodded. They walked around Kairi and looked up to the guys. They were pretty relaxed, since Kairi brought them, they couldn't be dangerous.

"Haaaai, I am Nadia!" the girl started. She had black hair and blue eyes.

"And I am Eunice" a second girl with reddish blonde hair and green eyes followed.

"I'm Vadim" a boy with blonde hair and incredibly blue eyes was next.

"And I am Tobiasz" a boy with brown hair and brown eyes.

They were all around four years old, so it seemed. "These are Kaleb's children" Kairi informed them.

The last girl had also black hair and blue eyes. "I am Angelina" she said, she looked rather shy.

"And this is Kilian's daughter." Kairi added.

Hawks and Izuku also crouched down. Hawks was delighted to see them and he chirped a little. "Hello there, little humans" he smiled at them. Especially the girls were fascinated and they immediately went for his feathers.

"You can really fly with them?" Eunice asked.

"Yes, of course!" Keigo spread his wings and carefully took off. More chirping could be heard. It was absolutely adorable.

Izuku let out some comfortable rumbling sounds too, as he watched the little pups. He had a smile on his face.

Toya knelt down and Angelina moved shyly closer to him, she eyed the baby in his arms. "Is it a boy or a girl?" she asked.

"She's a girl. Her name is Hotaru" Toya answered. "You don't need to be afraid, I don't bite." He let out a purring sound to soothe her.

"Did you get hurt?" she asked. She pointed to his scars.

"Yeah, but that was a long time ago, it doesn't hurt anymore" He explained. Angelina pouted and inched closer.

"Can I touch her?" she asked.

"Yeah, you can" Toya allowed. Angelina carefully reached out with her little hand and she patted Hotaru's head. She let out more delighted chirping.

"She's cute!" she giggled.

Toya smiled. "She is."

They stayed for a little while, before they moved on. They were on currently in the main hall again, when two women came down the stairs. The alphan woman had bright red hair, she wore an extremely short black dress and she showed a lot of cleavage too. She wore a blue fur coat and high heels. The omegan woman had bluish black hair, she wore a crop top and hot pants, also high heels. Both of them had very professional looking make up painted on.

"Oh, hello, mother" the redhead chuffed happily. She walked over to Kairi and gave her a short hug. "How was your job?"

"Pretty good. We got some of the French folk. And the best, Darleen is no more."

Her daughter gasped. "No way, you killed her?"

"Well, Miles did, as she tried to attack me. Kinda sad actually, I wanted to kill her myself. We tried to make a deal with Loup-Garou, but he threw her and a couple of his children away, can you believe that, Malka?"

Malka raised her eyebrows and shook her head. "Men ... that's why I don't like them, isn't that right, Krista?" She leaned over to her mate and wrapped an arm around her hip.

Krista chuckled and purred a little. "Yes, darling. Anyway, Kairi, you brought some ... interesting fellas with you" she tilted her head.

"Ah, yeah, right. Those are Izuku, Toya and Keigo, the pup is Hotaru. They will stay here for a while. Be nice to them, and they are off limits" Kairi mentioned.

Izuku blushed at that a little. "Mother, you know that men only interest me, when they pay, I would never advance a man on my own" she inspected her long, red nails. She then moved her head and lifted her gaze to look at Izuku. "But he's a cute little prime alpha, so young" she crooned.

She walked over to him and inspected him. "Such a cutie pie" she mumbled. Her red lips turned into an even wider smile.

Izuku had trouble to focus on her face, her cleavage was huge. "H-Hi, nice to meet you" he mumbled.

"Aww, that is just adorable. He's so shy! I want to protect him" she pinched his cheek, much to his embarrassment.

The greenette growled a little. "Could you please stop that?"

Malka laughed and turned towards Hawks. "Huh ... that reminds me, that I need a new feather coat ..." She inspected him.

Keigo's wings flapped. "Don't even think of it, sweetheart!"

"Haha, while I love red as a hair color, I don't fancy it in clothing. Don't worry." She smiled, while looking over to Toya.

"Your pup is really cute, congratulations." She walked over to look at Hotaru. "My wife and I had recently a pup of our own" she mentioned.

"Well, good for you" Toya raised an eyebrow.

"Oi, Malka, don't you have a job or something?" Kairi growled.

Malka let out an exasperated sigh. "You're right. Well now, I'll say my goodbyes then. C'mon Krista, we can't let those men wait any longer" for the last sentence she got an annoyed tone.

"Yeah, see you later" Krista waved towards the three newcomers before they left.

"Wow ... what an outfit ..." Keigo commented.

"Her usual outfit for work" Kairi shrugged. She waved and they followed her.

"The rooms on the first floor in the left wing are Ian's and Jesper's rooms. If you're interested you could ask them later, to show them to you, or not, I don't care. The girls live mostly in the right wing. So be warned, especially Elsa can be a little bitch in the morning."

"Good to know where I will stay the hell away from ..." Toya mumbled.

"Yeah, it's for the best." Kairi chuckled.

"I have a question, how is the eating situation here, like do you eat together or everyone on their own?" Izuku asked. He was kinda hungry and his stomach started to growl.

"Depends, we have a dining room but we are so many that eating all together is just impossible. You can order food at any time and you can either eat downstairs in the dining area or on your room. Sometimes people join you when they are at home, sometimes you eat alone. There are only very few occasions where all of us are present, but it sometimes does happen." She explained.

"Ah, okay ... Good to know." Izuku was actually kinda said, back at home he had always eaten with his mother and at UA they would have at least dinner together. He was sure that it would be strange to eat mostly alone. But he guessed that it be rather difficult to fit all the people with different time schedules on one table.

"Do you want to grab a bite first, before we continue?" Kairi asked.

"Yeah, would be lovely. I'm starving" Izuku mumbled, he rubbed over his stomach.

"Oh yes, me too!" Hawks' wings rustled.

"And I need to feed Hotaru anyway."

"Alright, follow me then." With that they made their way over to the dining room.