Zakuro

Pomegranate (zakuro)

My voice screamed out your name
Even if it surely won't reach you my voice
But even so, I'm fine now
One day in my heart you will be...

I'll dream tonight too, dreams of you Because of your letter that I put under my pillow
My dreams are too cruel, my breath hitches
As always, I wake in pain around 4 in the morning

Time is too long Time is too painful
The dreams don't stop
My love is frozen, dead
On cold nights
like in this long night

My consciousness is torn apart becoming small pieces my memories scattering I grasp your ring so tightly that my tears soaking the pillow

Like I can't hear, I blocked my ears to your voice
One more scar added to my wrist Melting into the wound you

I am broken the letter burnt reduced to ashes
I am broken my heart broken reduced to ashes
I am broken I lost you I love you.
